TMC Survey: Officer Dues Question & Fund Handling Answer

Jun 22, 2005

User group leaders do what they do for a variety of reasons. Fun, friendship and the desire to help others and the opportunity to educate top the list. Few receive any benefits and even fewer expect them. One way some groups reward their leaders is with free dues, while others believe that the leadership should share in the funding of the group. We want to know how your group handles officer dues. Do your officers or leaders pay dues to your group?

Atlanta Macintosh User Group's MacCollege Coming Up This Weekend

Jun 22, 2005

Mac user groups are known for not just their regularly scheduled meetings, but also for going that extra mile to create different and unique events for their members and the communities they serve. Regional events with special guest speakers, social gatherings, computer recycling and more have all been on the MUG Event Calendar over the past few months.

The Atlanta Macintosh Users Group (AMUG) adds to that roster of special activities on June 25 when they hold another of their MacCollege events. The focus will be on the components of the iLife suite... \(more\)

Come see all us synners.

You've created your podcast. Now let the whole world hear it.

Liberated Syndication is a media hosting and distribution service built from the ground up with podcasters in mind. Libsyn is the first full featured provider tailored specifically for all-media self-publishing and Podcasting with pricing models that make sense for this new generation of content creators.

Leave your storage and bandwidth concerns to us.

At the heart of podcasting is the freedom to push your voice out as far and wide as possible. No one lets you take it further than libsyn. Liberated Syndication goes beyond traditional webhosting- we are syndication providers. You get a home to store your media, a simple but powerful blog engine, an RSS feed, and an interface to distribute your podcast to a limitless audience. Our service also works with your existing blog. Use libsyn just for storing your ever expanding media library and manage your RSS feed yourself.

We don't want you to be penalized if your program gets popular. That is why we do not charge for bandwidth usage or for hosting of a static amount of web storage. Instead, our price model is based on how much space you need. Our unique archiving feature ensures you'll have room to grow.

Come play in our Sandbox.

The User Group Report: The Mac News Braintrust Roundtable Discussion, Brigadoon Software Lets Your Mac Phone Home If Stolen, Upcoming MUG Events & More

Jun 21, 2005

The editors of three of the most respected news sites on the Mac Web join the User Group Report for the first "Mac News Braintrust" roundtable discussion. The members of the Mac News Braintrust include Jim Dalrymple of MacCentral, Dennis Sellers of Macsimum News, and Bryan Chaffin of The Mac Observer. They discuss the hottest news story in years, Apple's Intel announcement, podcasting and more in our feature-length interview. This event kicks off a new User Group Report segment that will bring you more than just news from the most recognized names in Apple reporting.

MP3 Download Podcast

Jim Dalrymple

Dennis Sellers

Bryan Chaffin

Martin Moran of Brigadoon Software discusses MacPhoneHome, the software that can help your Mac if it is stolen. Brigadoon boasts an impressive recovery rate, and Martin talks about their interaction with law enforcement agencies around the world to achieve that rate, as well as how the software works and why it isn't just for mobile Macs.
